MELTY - Your Icy-Melting Friend! Melty is a product of an evil experiment gone wrong. He was saved from death by a group of kids. This show is a funny and a crazy comedy about an Ice Cube and a group of very close friends showing everybody how to save, or even improve, the small city they live in, in the most unusual of ways.

The Pitch What we can expect from a series when we have a melting Ice Cube that slides all over the place, a Chimney in a business suit character and very smart kids? Laughs and amazing situations where all can learn about the environment and have some fun at the same time. It is a comedy where children can laugh and learn how to protect the air, water, and land and is geared towards kids and younger audience. It's a show that goes beyond a typical educational series and is filled with amazing situations that make you laugh.

The Run Down Melty is a hyper, overactive Ice Cube that becomes a friend of the kids that found him. He gets upset when he sees somebody creating smoke. He is very naive and a little dumb, but smart enough to spoil Mr. CoughCough's plans to hurt the environment.

As part of this brigade to save our planet, we have Kawika. She is the head of the group, who is engaged in environment conservation. She is followed by Little Dude, a boy full of energy but without any idea what global warming is. Eugene Jr. is the youngest guy of the group but with a stunning IQ. On the other hand there is Mr. CoughCough, a ruthless chimney character, who is plotting evil plans to make the citizens of Hot Pot to leave their city, in order to increase the size of his Smoke Factories. In each episode audiences will get closer to Melty and his friends' ideals with laughter.

Melty: He's an ice cube that slides all over the place leaving a trail of water. He's always trying to stop people from producing carbon monoxide and from polluting the environment. He's extremely happy and too friendly, and tends to get over excited when he sees somebody creating smoke. He's very naive and a little clumsy but always manages to spoil Mr. CoughCough's plans.

Mr. CoughCough: He toils away plotting new plans to make the citizens of Hot Pot leave the city in order to increase the size of his Smoke Factories. He is helped by Dr. BrainDead, a very intelligent zombie scientist and the SmokePigs, his foot soldier creatures that look like humanoid pigs made of black smoke.

Kawika: She is an 8 year-old African American girl that is very intelligent and serious about saving the environment. She is the leader of the group and knows a lot of karate! She helps Melty in solving the problems created by Mr. CoughCough. She loves ice cream more than anything and knows a lot about ecology and the environment.

Little Dude: He is also 8 years-old and only thinks about skate boarding and video games. He likes Melty since he is a great partner to play video games. He follows the group because he thinks that fighting Mr. CoughCough is cool and why not? He has nothing better to do.

Eugene Jr.: He is the nerd of the group, the brains. His father is an auto mechanic, and he uses his father's auto shop as a secret lab. Eugene is the one that builds the crazy robots, devices and machines that help Melty in his fight with Mr. CoughCough.
